PRINCIPAL'S INTERVIEW

Mrs. Buchanan Who inspired you to become who you are today and how?

My grade seven teacher Mr. Knight. He spoke about the importance of education and had us write resumes for jobs we would like to have when we grew up. This of course, led to what education we would need to get that job. I decided then, that I wanted to continue my education after highschool.

What is one piece of advice that you would give to students attending SCITS?

Sic Itur Ad Astra "Reach for the Stars".

Why is SCITS the best highschool in Sarnia?

Quite simply, the students, supported by a remarkable staff.

Describe your most memorable teacher.

In addition to Mr. Knight who I spoke about earlier, my grade 11 and 13 Biology teacher, Mrs. Goring. She was a dedicated educator who had high expectations of me and inspired me to work my hardest to meet those expectations.

What is your favourite animal and why?

Horses, because they are such beautiful animals.

When you have had a rough day, what do you do to stay sane?

I think about how lucky I am and all the wonderful people in my life. My children, my husband, my colleagues and the great students at S.C.I.T.S. I am really happy to have had the opportunity to work with staff, students, student council at school and the school community. I hope that I can stay here for a long, long time.

Mr. Guilbeault Who inspired you to become who you are today, and how?

My parents were my first inspiration because they always believed I could do well and better than they had done. They had a lot of faith in my talents and abilities. I had a good, sound upbringing and they wanted the best for me. I had good teachers who were very supportive and said education was important, because through education I could achieve my highest peak of talents.

What are some of your pet peeves? I hate gum and smoking in public places, and just smoking in general.

What is one piece of advice that you would give to students attending SCITS?

Go to school to be the best that you can be, because if there is a tool that will allow you to flourish and be the best that you can be, it is education.

Why is SCITS the best highschool in Sarnia?

That is because the kids have a sense of respect for their teachers and authority in general. More importantly they have a sense of who they are. They do not pretend to be somebody they are not. As a result of being in touch with reality, accepting who you are, and your place in the community, it results in a good value system and them being happy with who they are.

Describe your most memorable teacher. A nun in grades 5 through 8 because she was very strict but extremely fair. She was very consistent, cared a lot about kids and made you feel as if you were the only important kid in school. She was always interested in something personal about you and made you feel important and wanted. As a result, everyone thought she was the best teacher.

When you have had a rough day, what do you do to stay sane?

I go in the whirlpool and workout room where I live to just relax. I also talk with family because we are very family oriented. I love working at SCI. It is a great school with great staff who are dedicated, highly sensitive to others needs and care about kids. We have a great bunch of kids who are down to earth and I would not want to be at another school.

Thanks for all of your hard work together and dedication!

OLD BLUE BOMBERS RULE! NEW BLUE BOMBERS RULE!

Welcome Week was a great success, full of humiliating moments and memories which will never be forgotten. The grade nines were active participants and showed school spirit and pride. This fun event welcomed our new students with songs, games, and the famous "Pudding Pool." Stephanie Barnier, Jackie Whiteman, Miranda Fraser and Erica Spence were the senior students who organized this event. The purple team, (Ms. Cachae's class), was the winner of the grade nine homeroom challenge. Although they didn't win every event, it just shows that participation is the key to victory during Welcome Week. All of the senior students hope that this event will last forever. Welcome Week gets everyone out to show their Blue Bomber spirit to the niners who will one day lead our school.

ONE LAST STEP

What is one way you could bring peace to the world?

- Use the force.

Blane Hartley

- Mr. Lynch's guided meditations could bring peace to all.

Carrie Simons and Leanne Edwards

How can you make a grade nine student feel welcome at SCITS?

- Free cake.

Cory Saunders

- Show them how the water goes down the toilet.

Janine Bissonette

- Help them to get involved and become an individual who can make a difference.

Melissa Postill

- Group hugs.

Carrie Simmons

- Take to Dempsey's.

Mark Gibson

- Not to get trapped while swimming naked in the school pool.

Dane Osborne

Your favourite teacher at SCITS is...

- Mrs. Noble because she is keeping our language alive. She cares about her students and understands them. She is someone you can talk to about anything.

Courtney Jackson

- Mr. Burnham a.k.a "Studley Dudley" because the name is amazing (and says it all).

Anonomous

- Mr. Spettigue because tell me you don't think so!

Sean Lackey

We lost all the yearbook mugshots, whose photo should we use to represent you and why?

- No one, because if I found someone that looked like me, I would have got their ID.

Dave Russell

Name one helpful thing you would send to an Afghan student and the purpose of this gift.

- School supplies and my homework.

Amanda Collins

- My sister because she is my twin.

SCITS ABORIGINALS

The first peace, which is the most important, is that which comes within the souls of people when they realize their relationship, their oneness, with the universe and all its powers, and when they realize that at the center of the universe dwells the Great Spirit, and that this center is really everywhere, it is within each of us.

PIESKIN

"The Senior Bombers finished the regular season with a 2 and 3 record and qualified for the LSSAA playoffs...We finished the season with a 50-7 victory at St. Pat's vs. the Irish...In our playoff game we came up against the undefeated Northern Vikings...Our team played hard all afternoon and were down only 13-7 after three quarters...The Northern coaching staff commented that no other conference team had played them as tough as the Bombers had! The coaches were also quite satisfied with the effort level of this team." - Coach B. Lynch

CROSS COUNTRY

Even though this year's small cross-country team didn't compete, they trained hard with coach Harris. The team's favourite practices were the ones where they got to run to different Sarnia landmarks which they picked out of a hat just before the run. Mr. Harris' favourite workout (the team's least favourite one) was the Brazilian circuit. Mr. White would sometimes join the team and brave these long, hard and challenging practices.

TENNIS "LOVE ALL"

This year's tennis team had an awesome showing at LSSAA. Mixed doubles partners Angelika and Billy Gould placed fourth and girls doubles partners Pam Evers and Miranda Restorick placed second which qualified the two teams for SWOSSA. At SWOSSA, they had great new experiences playing for their first time on clay and indoor courts. The brother-sister twin team of Billy and Angelika played hard and had great games. Pam and Miranda also played hard and came out being the consolation round champs. They also beat the Northern team that had beaten them out for first place at LSSAA.

JR. BOYS

The Junior Boys' Soccer Team made a return in the fall sports schedule finishing with a 1 and 5 record after league play was completed. A memorable final game against Northern losing only 1-0 in the final minutes gave the team a great sense of achievement for all their hard work at practices this fall.

KICKIN' KRAZY

JR. GIRLS

The Junior Girls' Soccer Team finished in 2nd place after league play was completed. They were the only team to come close to defeating the Northern Vikings with a 1-1 draw. Playing in wintry conditions, the girls were defeated by the St. Christopher's Cyclones 1-0 in the semis. For the season; Jodilyn Brown was top scorer, Laura Wilson was top sweeper and kicker, Katie Moran was top defender and Ashleigh VanVliet was the outstanding goalie for the Lady Bombers. Congratulations on a fine season.

SR. BOYS

The Senior Boys' Soccer Team played well this season although they were often short handed. This positive group of athletes had a successful season with many close scoring games. The Sr. Boys finished the season with a two win record. Good effort!

KICKIN' CRAZY

The Senior Girls' Soccer team had a great season with lots of effort. "Not bad for a group of excellent SCITS student athletes!" said Coach Amlin. We are looking forward to an excellent season next year when the super junior bombers step up to the senior field. The Sr. Girls finished off the year in 3rd place losing to Northern 2-1 in the Semi-Finals. The ladies won 5 games and had 1 loss and 1 tie all season. Good luck to all the girls graduating next year!!

FORE!

GOLF

A special thanks goes out to Katie Lebel for making the 2002 golf season one of SCITS best. Katie organized the fall and spring try-outs, drawing a list of 30 golfers trying for five positions. The competition was excellent this year as very few shots separated the field. Making the five male positions were Brian LeNeve, Mark Gibson, Aaron Walter, Brendan Kelly and Brent Anderson. Katie Lebel and Morgan MacKenzie made up the compact girls team. With Katie leaving on a golf scholarship, hopefully Morgan can beat the bushes next fall. Our boys team looks good for the future as Brent, Aaron, and Brendan have 2 to 3 years left at SCITS. Once again thank-you Katie and good luck next year. Thanks to Mr. Allen for coaching!

The Boys Hockey team coached by Mr. Allen, Mr. Litt and parent volunteer Mr. Terry Soeder, chose to practice and play exhibition hockey games on Mondays this season in preparation for a culminating tournament in Toronto, December 17th and 18th. Winning exhibition games were played against St. Clair and Northern. The team travelled to the Beatrice Hockey Tournament where they scored a 1-2 record on the ice. Thanks to all the Hockey Bombers and Staff for their fine sportsmanship and positive team spirit!

On January 11th and 12th, the defending LSSAA Champion Girls' Hockey team coached by Mrs. Ramos and parent volunteer Mr. Frank Stewart, placed third in a very emotional and exciting tournament. The girls had played home and away exhibition games versus St. Pat's, St. Christopher's and St. Clair, with a 4-2 record in preparation for this competition. The tournament began with a 3-0 win against the North Lambton Eagles. With a head injury experienced by all-star goalie Kelly Brooks, manager Brittney

Bailey stepped in and recorded a 3-0 shut out against the St. Clair Colts. Semi-Final Action saw the team face the eventual tournament winners Northern. Excellent efforts defending your title Ladies Hockey Bombers and thanks to the coaching staff for your time and enthusiasm!

THROWING ROCKS CAT HOUSE

Experienced senior curling team members Janine Bissonnette and Miranda Restorick co-coached junior members Natalie VanDoormal and Kelly Erwin. Kelley Jeffery also came out and joined the team every now and then making the practices an even more "rocking" good time. The coaches taught the team the proper technique of sliding out of the hack, throwing rocks with the proper handles, sweeping and even more techniques with confusing names. Kelly Erwin learned to tape the correct shoe and step on the ice with her gripper foot not her slider foot. Natalie VanDoormal (the exchange student) worked hard on getting used to walking and sweeping on cold, slippery ice.

JUNIOR

The Junior Girls team had an outstanding season and finished at the LSSAA tournament with an excellent effort defeating three of the four top teams in some matches. There was a lot of talent which will help the senior team next year. Most importantly, the coach was so proud of the girls' sportsmanship and hard work. They showed SCITS grit and never gave up. Thank-you Miss Winegard for coaching!

The Senior Girls had an exciting season and it came down to the end of the LSSAA tournament to see who would make the play-offs. The team had many exciting wins as they also defeated some of the play-off bound teams (especially the league champion St. Clair Colts). Well done Senior Lady Bombers! Good luck to the graduates: Laura Aberhart, Sarah Boyd, Becky Thomas, Melissa Postill, Randi Rankin, Miranda Restorick and Jessica Shelley. Thank-you Mrs. Girard and Mrs. Amlin for coaching!

IT HAS ALREADY BEEN BROUGHT!

This was the "Best Year Ever" for our Blue Bomber Wrestlers. Despite placing second at the L.S.S.A.A and S.W.O.S.S.A.A. Championships this year our Blue Bomber Wrestling Team captured a Bronze Medal at the O.F.S.A.A Championships held in Thunder Bay February 27th to March 3rd, 2002. This was the best finish ever for a Sarnia High School team. Quality finally defeated quantity as the numbers game played by L.C.C.V.I (at L.S.S.A.A) and Windsor Riverside (at S.W.O.S.S.A.A) was over come by the outstanding skill and talent of the likes of Bobby Thompson, Ryan Huckle, Andre LeBlanc, and Dave Kaczmarek at O.F.S.S.A.

O.F.S.A.A results: Champions 47.5 Kg - Ryan Huckle, 64 Kg - Bobby Thompson, Bronze Medallist - 44 Kg - Andre LeBlanc.

S.W.O.S.S.A.A results: Champions - Ryan Huckle, Bobby Thompson, and Dave Kaczmarek.

Silver Medallist: Andre LeBlanc
Bronze Medallists: Steve MacDonald and Dan Routley.

L.S.S.A.A results: Champions- Andrew LeBlanc, Ryan Huckle, Corey McKellar, Bobby Thompson, and Dave Kaczmarek.
Silver Medallists- Phil Fraser, Darren Swartz, Steve MacDonald, and Dan Routley.

Staff and students wish Mac well in his retirement. His organization, enthusiasm, and commitment to the wrestling program will be greatly missed. Thank-you Mr. Mac!

JR. GIRLS

The Junior Girls Basketball Team made a comeback with the coaching of Mrs. Brand and the assistance of Ms. Wineguard and Mr. Waller. Their final home game was November 12th against LCCVI. The girls put in many long hours of practice and games to represent SCITS. Well done for your enthusiasm and commitment. Thank-you coaches and manager Miranda Andrews.

Jr. Girls Quotes: "Basketball is really fun and even when we don't win, we still try our best." Kara Nisbet
 "I think we've improved a lot over the past few games." Katie Smithers
 "Our team has improved a lot. Basketball is my favourite sport. We're learning to talk to each other more on the court." Katrina Neil
 "Even though we're not winning all of our games we're working hard and improving as the season goes on." Tosha Lobsinger
 "Our team is the most improved team I have ever seen. The girls never quit." Mrs. Brand

Our Junior Bombers faced many hurdles in this season. They were unable to play together last year and were therefore a year behind other teams in the league. They continued to practice and play hard all season and improved tremendously from the beginning to the end. They finished the season with a 4-15 record overall and were 6th place finishers in LSSAA. They were praised by opposing coaches for their sportsmanship and hard play. If they continue to work as hard as they did this year, they should continue to improve and should be playoff contenders later in their highschool careers. Their coach thanks them for their dedication and efforts this year, it was lots of fun!!

Jr. Boys Quotes: "We practice hard to get where we want to be." Denny Kirby
 "Basketball is awesome! We are tearin' up the court." Danny Walsh
 "We like to play." Colin Jolly
 "The game is all about discipline." Josh Daye
 "Although wins were hard to come by, this team was an inspiration because of their hard work and positive attitude. Good luck in the future" Mr. B Lynch

SR. G I R L S

The Senior Girls Basketball Team coached by Mr. McLellan and assistant grad Ms. Buchanan finished their season with a home game November 8th against St. Pat's and a final tournament the 9th and 10th in Oshawa where they won Consolation Finals to finish the season. The Girls competed in a number of tournaments this season (Dresden, Brantford, Lambton, Oshawa and Northern) winning the Consolation at the Lambton College Tournament and being the only Lambton team to win their first round at the Northern Invitational Tournament and then continuing on to be finalists. Well done Bombers and thank-you coaches for your many hours of dedication and commitment to SCITS Basketball. Good luck to the graduates: Laura Aberhart, Jessica Shelley, Elaine Pomoransky, Stephanie Barnier, Heather Yates, and Emilie Tidball. Thank-you for your spirited 5 years of SCITS Basketball. The graduates wish all the others the best of luck with basketball at SCI!

Sr. Girls Quotes: "We had a lot of good games, we worked hard together and we're going to miss our graduating players. Natalie Armstrong "I'm going to miss the graduating players...it won't be the same without them. The floor is slippery." Pam Evers "Basketball has been my life here for 5 years and I thank my team for being the best friends one could ask for!" Laura Aberhart "Great season, great games and it's a great thing that 'I'm clear!' We played a lot of games losing by a basket or a few points! The closer the score, the harder we had to work. It was tough luck I guess." Jessica Shelley

"It has been a great season despite not winning all of our games and only losing them by a few points. The girls worked together and I am proud of them. The graduates have been a great asset to the team and I wish them luck next year. By the way Nikki, what's the definition of a hoe?" Mr. McLellan

GO BOMBERS!

SR. B O Y S

Despite a losing record, The Senior Boys Basketball team gave it everything they had in a very competitive league this year. They have had a rough go of it the past couple of years with several different coaching changes and no season last year. However, the guys bounced back and came together to pick up a couple of wins and have a great time playing the game. Our best game of the season was here at SCI vs. St. Chris. We lost 56-49, but St. Chris went on to win the LSAA finals and upset the #1 ranked team in Ontario at OFSSA. Several players will be graduating this year including; captain Dave Russell (great leader on and off the court), Steve LaTour, Doug Jones (watch out for his elbows), Kevin Van Horne (Mr. T for Technical), Gord Bayly, Dan Noescher, and Travis Will (the man in the middle).

Sr. Boys Quotes: "A bunch of good players, a lot of potential and good luck next year to the guys who are staying." Doug Jones "Just happy to get back on the court after a year off with no basketball." Dave Russell "Take it to the rock" Gord Bayly "Thanks team for the dedication, hard work day in day out and putting up with a rookie coach. Seniors, best of luck with your future decisions. And Scott Cox needs anger management classes that is not a lie." Mr. Burnham

YEARBOOK STAFF

Yearbook was an amazing experience. Heather and Miranda spent many hours creating a fantastic book of memories. Thank you for your patience as I learned the system, our frustration at only having two computers, your dedication at labelling every student in every photo, and your commitment to making the best book in SCITS history! Sweet! We pieced it all together.

As you look at this book in years to come remember all the fun times at Sarnia Collegiate ... the classes you enjoyed, the teachers you loved, the sports you played, and the friends you hung out with. Best of luck for the future!

The Wellness Club participated in many helpful events this year which included:

- *visited a nursing home at Christmas time and baked cookies for the residents

- *raised money for the Women's Interval Home

- *talked about healthy living and promoted it at the Lambton County Wellness Conference

- *promoted a city wide Twister game with all schools getting involved at Centennial Park

- * returned to the nursing home for tea in June.

SOMA is the Southern Ontario Model United Nations Assembly at the University of Toronto. All that attended this year found it to be an amazing experience that allowed them to obtain new skills. There were three delegations from SCITS this year, representing Dominica, Latvia and Togo. During this five day trip students experienced Toronto, debated over important topics and met new people.

SOMA Delegates:

SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

THE PATHWAY TO PEACE

What can we do?
 Well look around!
 See all the sad faces?
 See all the frowns?
 Let's make a statement.
 Let's stand out.
 So put on a smile,
 And forget to pout.
 Take your best friend in your arms,
 Hug him just so nice,
 Tell him you love him,
 Tell him you need him,
 And don't let him out of your sight.
 We all want peace,
 We all need release,
 So come on,
 Let's do this right.
 If we all love one,
 And will be loved,
 And maybe we'll have a safe night.
 So come on people,
 Let's all join hands.
 I can't do this alone.
 So stand by me,
 I'll stand by you,
 And together,
 We'll make it through.
 Through all this hate,
 Through all this pain,
 We'll change this world.
 It'll never be the same!
 If it starts with just one person,
 Let that person be me.
 And if it starts with just one step,
 Let me take that step.
 Let me start the pathway,
 The pathway to peace,
 It starts with one hug,
 And ends in millions.
 Stop! Look around!
 See what you can do!
 Start with the schools,
 Then the churches,
 All this hatred,
 All this pain,
 All this suicide!
 All these people need,
 Is our love.
 So come on!
 Let's make the dive.
 A dive into love,
 A dive into peace,
 A dive into harmony.
 So let me take the first stride,
 Down the pathway to peace.
 I will start,
 And you will follow.

Come on. We're going to make it!
 Join me in the fight,
 A fight for love,
 A fight for peace,
 A fight for harmony,
 So grab a hold of my hand,
 And hold on for your life.
 The pathway to peace,
 Has lots of bumps,
 And ditches on the side,
 But that don't matter much.
 After all the bumps and bruises,
 It'll be a smooth smooth ride.
 No more tears,
 No more anger,
 Nor more pain inside,
 I'll grab your hands,
 Do all I can,
 To save you.
 Save you from all this hate,
 From the hurt and betrayal of this world.
 The murder and wars,
 The drinking and driving,
 The pain and regret,
 I'll be there always,
 Helping you through,
 Helping you down,
 Down the pathway to peace.
 I love you,
 And I'll love you forever.
 So follow me,
 Down the pathway to peace.

IF

If I was to laugh,
 Would you be around to hear?
 If I was to cry,
 Would you help to dry my tears?
 If my world came crashing down,
 Would you help to clear the debris?
 If I was to trip and fall,
 Would you be waiting to catch me?
 If I was to go away,
 Would you wait for me to call?
 If my heart was locked up tight,
 Would you break through the wall?
 If I took a different path,
 Would you be at my side?
 If I was frightened and scared,
 Would you help me to hide?

If I was cut up and bruised,
 Would you heal all my wounds?
 And if I wanted a star from the sky,
 Would you bring me the moon?

If I was to look in your eyes,
 Would you be everything you seem,
 Or would you be completely fake,
 Only a man in my dreams.

I REMEMBER

I remember waking up to the sound of singing birds,
 running out to the kitchen to find my cake
 on the table,
 the swishing sound of my mother stirring the juice, the sizzling sound of my father
 flipping the eggs,
 everyone barges to the table for breakfast,
 the moist steamy smell of melted butter on warm toast,
 the nice breeze blowing past me through the patio door,
 the giggles and laughter of my young cousins,
 their smiling faces as they run out into the hot warm air,
 the Popsicles that were eaten to refresh us,
 the fun games outside in my backyard,
 kids that shouted from inside the pool,
 the amount of joy that was in the air,
 I remember my father roasting the hot dogs
 on the Bar-B-Q,
 the smell and juice that came from the hotdogs,
 the steam rising from the Bar-B-Q,
 the smacking sound of my cousins throwing
 the ball around,
 my cousin's old leather ball glove,
 the voices of my family wishing me a happy 10th birthday,
 the hot sun that shone down on the smooth
 water,
 the late night bon fires in the back,
 the smokey smell of marshmallows
 roasting,
 the buzzing sound of mosquitoes that swarm us,
 watching the fire flies light up their
 backsides,
 I remember...

Not Goodbye

by: Angela Henderson

It's not the time to say goodbye,
It's not the time to go.
It's far too late to start again
Not time to say hello,
And though you'll be so far away
And I will miss you so,
It's not the time to say goodbye
It's not the time to go.

It's not the time to say goodbye,
It's not the time to go.
Goodbye is for forever
Goodbye is yes, I know
That I won't see you anymore,
Apart we'll have to grow
So I say plain I'll see you
Being in the know,
It's not the time to say goodbye
It's not the time to go.

My Anecdote

By: Jessica Helps

"Tina Lachar was a short, thin, young girl who was in grade 5. Most of the kids at school teased her because she was really bad at basketball. Then one day her mother signed her up to play with the older grades. She was the top player!"

DRAMA GOES TO TORONTO

The drama trip went to Toronto in October. The group went to a Medieval Times feast and show as well as visiting the Playdium. Of course, they made time to go shopping and don't forget the theatre plays! "Trick or Treat" and "King Henry V" were just two of the five plays attended. The trip also included taking part in the Second City Workshop, an acting program. An awesome experience! Thank you Mr. White.

RETIRING

Ms. Kitty Buscko "It's about time I retire. I've been teaching for two centuries! Change is something that everyone is going to face in this 21st Century. I have faced change throughout my career. When I started teaching, I walked into a classroom of 30 manual typewriters. I also taught shorthand -- and penmanship!! Short-hand tried to stay up to date by changing to Shorterhand and then to scriptwriting. But technology removed shorthand from the curriculum. I remember when the offset press, the spirit duplicator, and the stencil were fixtures in the school, and the only way to duplicate lesson handouts. Then we discovered the photocopier! Technology changed the manual typewriters to electric, then to electronic with word processing capabilities, and finally to the computer and the Internet. I am not really retiring, rather I'm changing careers and taking advantage of technology to do that. I am moving to a true 21st Century career: instructing a course online. I will miss the vitality that is evident during school hours in the halls of this wonderful old building. I wish all SCITS staff and students dreams of joy and the energy and spirit to pursue them."

Mr. Peter Litt "It was nearly eight years ago when I walked through the door at this school to become a member of the Blue Bomber Team. I was immediately 'enveloped' in an aura of history, tradition, and comradery. My acceptance by the SCITS community was topped off by my 'initiation' eight months later when I was kissing the nose of a potbellied pig who had intentions of ripping my face off! Over those eight years, I hope that in some small way, I have influenced the students in my classes to develop the habits for a successful future...be organized...be organized...be organized!!!! I salute the students and staff of SCI for allowing me to be part of a GREAT school. You, and the 'Ghosts' of this 80 year old buliding will be fondly remembered. I will see many of you...don't expect me to remember your names!!!!...at the 100th Anniversary in 2022. You will be in your thirties by then and I will be as "young" as ever!!"

Mr. Keith Young "It's hard to believe my high school teaching career is over. It seems like only yesterday that I taught my first class at St.Clair Secondary School. I taught there for 13 years, at Northern for about five and the rest of my teaching career has been here at SCITS. I'll probably remember my coaching experiences the most after I retire. The year our junior girls relay team almost won the OFSAA free style relay or the time I watched a student (Mr. Harris) blow away the competition at the cross country meet up in Exeter. But I'll also remember the students that passed through my classroom on a daily basis and made teaching and playing with science toys so much fun. I have also been blessed over the years to teach with some great individuals who have trained me in the craft of teaching and encouraged me so much. Where else can you go to work each day and get paid for having fun? To those that follow in my footsteps I would suggest that the most important things that we teach in the classroom have nothing to do with the curriculum and everything to do with self-respect, a determination to do well and a curiosity about the learning we continue to do for the rest of our lives. Best of luck to all thoe who continue to strive for excellence."

BOMBERS

Mr. Murray Holmes

"Mr. Holmes was a teacher with a great sense of humour. He might have worked you hard, but that is only because he was an excellent teacher with a good teaching style. Deep down inside, he had a caring heart made of gold, and I'm glad I was lucky enough to find it." Amanda Fillion

"Mr. Holmes was a very funny teacher with a unique sense of humour. I am glad I had him as a teacher and I hope he has a happy retirement." Jesse Elliott

"Mr. Holmes was understanding. He kept the room quiet so you could work without distractions." Valerie Tomlinson

"As a former student of Mr. Holmes, it is weird to replace him especially because it is in the same classroom. I hope to follow in his charming footsteps." Mr. Burnham

Mr. Terry Gray "The king of co-op is retiring! I have taught Geography, Physical Education, Science, and most recently Co-op at Sarnia Collegiate. I plan to spend my retirement visiting family, sailing my boat, and cleaning up my yard that is a mess right now. I have enjoyed my association with staff and students throughout my career. I now plan to do whatever and go with the flow! I have been practicing useless talents like throwing the ice tea bottle into the recycling bin (nearly missing napping teacher's heads) in the staff room at lunch so I am ready to retire! Best of luck to all in the future."

Ms. Joanne Pollock "I began my teaching career as a librarian for sixteen years at St. Clair. Next, I moved on to Northern to teach a year of History. Finally, I progressed to what would be my favourite school; SCITS, where I have now taught for thirteen years. The classes that I have most enjoyed teaching are U.S. History and Modern Western Civilizations. I loved to make my class read Jane Austen's novel, Pride and Prejudice, and then lecture them on etiquette. I remember eight or nine years ago, when my Grade 12 U.S. History class kidnapped George (my abstract sculpture that sits on my desk). They left a ransom note, with words cut from a magazine, and a picture of poor George sitting under the wheel of the Bomber Bus. The note said that ensure his safe return I would need say something bad about Robert E. Lee. I had to admit that my favourite general did make a couple mistakes. What I will miss most about teaching is seeing students that I have taught for more than one semester grow and develop intellectually and as people. In the future I am going to do whatever I want, whenever I want! I will read the piled up books in my study, explore Civil War battlefields, and cruise the Mediterranean. I will leave you with the following departing words: "A gentleman does not wear his hat indoors" and "A lady does not show cleavage before five o'clock."

FRIENDS FOREVER

"I believe that friends are like angels who sit on our shoulders and lift our wings when we forget how to fly."

Author unknown but quote holds true for Sarnia Collegiate students who develop relationships that will last a lifetime.

Jeff McMillan The top three reasons why you are such a classy guy. 1) Your hair 2) Your hair 3) Your hair!

Sarah Whalls' hair measured in at a whopping one meter long! We think this must be a Sarnia Collegiate record.

When SCITS was asked to vote for the student with the best hair, Bryan Williams (A.K.A. "Shaggy") came out on top in 1st!

Joshua McEwen ponders his accomplishment, after receiving 2nd place in the contest for the best hair at SCI!

Cole Thompson knows he has great hair and his 3rd place finish finally proves it!

Left to Right: Alex Roach knows that the key to winning the ladies is in the hair. Candice Mills claims, "If you think this is wild...then you haven't seen me on a BAD hair day!" Chris Barton knows what cool hair is all about! Kale Klompstra wants everyone to know that he invented HAIR! Sarnia Collegiate students have a sense of individuality and fashion that is reflected in their hair styles as this creative bunch demonstrate.

Unspeakable acts. It seemed impossible to turn away from the television replays after the unthinkable nightmare happened—terrorists hijacked two commercial airliners and deliberately crashed them into the World Trade Center towers in New York City. The North Tower was hit at 8:45 a.m. and then the South Tower 18 minutes later. By 10:28 both towers had collapsed. The death toll was nearly 3,000. The terrorists hijacked two other planes that morning, crashing one into the Pentagon, killing 190, while the other went down in a field near Johnstown, Pa., killing all 44 onboard. (AP/Chao Sol Cheong)

A clear message. “We will not falter and we will not fail,” George Bush told the world as he sent the U.S. military off to war. The fighting in Afghanistan and global manhunt for the elusive terrorist ring leader Osama bin Laden brought huge approval ratings for Bush, who up until the attack was under constant scrutiny over his qualifications for the presidency. (AP/Mark Humphrey)

Death by mail. Anthrax emerged as a new threat as the fear of terrorism reached new heights. In the form of a white powdery substance, the deadly chemical was found in a handful of mailed letters to U.S. politicians and prominent broadcasters. Investigators were baffled by the letter attack that left five people dead. Most of the lethal mail was post-marked from Trenton, N.J., and in some cases, a fictitious elementary school was the return address. (CP/Perry Mah)

Goodbye fashion police. With the downfall of the Taliban, women in Afghanistan are throwing away their Burkas—full head coverings forced on them by the government since 1996—and are looking to make new fashion statements. Tailors are finding business is booming. (AP/Laura Rauch)

Will it ever end? Peace in the Middle East seemed more unlikely than ever, as the second intifada continued to escalate. Rarely does a day go by without killings. Suicide bombings by Palestinians followed by retaliatory strikes by the Israeli military have become commonplace in this latest round in the struggle which has seen the death of more than 1,500 people since it began in September, 2000. (AP/Santiago Lyon)

'Happy 50th, Your Majesty.' Queen Elizabeth II has never been the focus of personal controversy, quite an accomplishment considering her often dysfunctional family's public problems. On Feb. 6, 2002, Elizabeth, who turns 76 this year, marked her Golden Jubilee commemorating the 50th anniversary of her accession to the throne. Sadly, the year also marked the death of the Queen's younger sister, Margaret. (AP/Alastair Grant)

Ablaze down under. Thousands of Australians fled their homes as bushfires swept across the nation, destroying wide swaths of forest and farmland. Although no fatalities were reported, smoke clouds caused air pollution levels to skyrocket. Nearly half the fires were deliberately set, mostly by teens and children, leading to the arrest of 25 suspects. (AP/Rob Griffith)

Sorry, no francs please. People in 12 European countries began cashing in their old currencies for new shiny Euro coins and crisp multi-coloured bills. The Euro creates a common currency in all but three European Union countries—Britain, Denmark and Sweden opted to keep their own currencies for now. (AP/Jon Dimis)

Cooking the books. A number of top executives at U.S. energy giant Enron Corp. squirmed as authorities implicated them in covering up huge financial losses. At the centre of the Enron scandal are questionable investment partnerships that inflated Enron's revenues while hiding massive debt. Some of the bosses, who made millions in stock options, pleaded the Fifth Amendment before Congress to protect themselves from potential self-incrimination. (AP/Pat Sullivan)

Canadian Events

Better late than never. Prime Minister Jean Chrétien paid his respects at Ground Zero 18 days after the attacks, well behind many other world leaders who visited New York soon after Sept. 11. Chrétien, at first moderate in his support for U.S. anti-terrorist measures, vigorously backed the launching of the October military campaign with our largest flotilla since the Korean War, half a century ago. But he warned that the war would be "a long one." (CP/Tom Hanson)

Operation Apollo. Canadians are among those allies standing on guard in Afghanistan. Playing an important support role for the U.S.-led mission, we have had five ships, six planes and 2,000 service personnel, including the special Joint Task Force 2 unit, in the hunt for Osama bin Laden and his al-Qaeda network. The land forces have faced deadly fire. (MACLEAN'S/Dan Callis)

Forever remembered. When Toronto investment banker David Barkway died in the attack on the World Trade Center, his wife Cindy was five months pregnant. In January, she gave birth to a seven-pound, six-ounce boy, their second child, whom she named after his dad. Barkway, one of 24 Canadians who died in the terrorist attack, was in a meeting on the 105th floor of the North Tower when the first plane struck. (CP/Bernard Weil)

Good old fashioned hospitality. In the wake of the Sept. 11 attacks, Canadians opened their doors to displaced air travellers whose flights were diverted to safe havens while in the air that morning. More than 33,000 passengers on some 250 planes clogged the nation's tarmacs, especially in eastern Canada which took the bulk of the U.S.-destined flights from Europe. In Newfoundland, there was insufficient hotel space, and families opened their homes to strangers for up to several days. (CP/Tim Krochak)

We love New York! Canadians opened their hearts to New Yorkers in many ways. Busloads from central Canada, backed by others from across the country, descended on the Big Apple in December to bear witness to the destruction of Ground Zero, (left), and take part in a weekend rally. As well, some Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers, (right), made the trek to offer their condolences to New York's finest. (MACLEAN'S/Peter Bregg)

Sgt. Airport. Airports across the country have taken a tougher stance on security, allowing armed officers to roam terminal lobbies and the increased use of sniffer dogs trained to uncover bombs in luggage. The Sept. 11 terrorists got through inspection points with box cutters which they used to hijack four planes. (CP/Kevin Frayer)

Shutting the gates. As fears grew that Canada provided a haven for terrorists planning to attack the U.S., serious questions arose over border security. Officials along both sides of the 8,900-km border that divides us from our southern neighbour have come down much harder on those passing through, resulting in much longer waits. (AP/Jay Drowns)

Canadian Events

Pass the gas mask. The Summit of the Americas—a trade conference for North and South American leaders including Jean Chrétien and George Bush—turned Quebec City into a fall weekend battleground. Although most were peaceful, a number of anti-globalization protesters faced off against police wielding batons, guns with plastic bullets and 1,700 canisters of tear gas, making it the largest security operation ever mounted in Canada. Four hundred people were arrested during the three-day event. (MACLEAN'S/Phill Snel)

Grounded. With few people wanting to fly after 9/11, the airline industry took a major hit. Air Canada lost millions and Canada 3000—the country's second-largest carrier—went bankrupt soon after the attacks, leaving thousands of workers unemployed and tens of thousands of travellers in the lurch.

(CP/Teresa Barbieri)

How low can it go? Canadians are afraid to find out, after another year of watching our nose-diving loonie. The dollar fell to the low 60-cent-levels against the American greenback by year's end, with little sign of a major turnaround.

Black Thursday. That seemed to describe the feeling on Jan. 17, 2002, when B.C. Premier Gordon Campbell axed 11,700 jobs from the public sector—the largest civil service chop in the province's history. The $3.8-billion deficit left by previous New Democrat governments was blamed for the job cuts, which amounted to nearly one-third of the public service.

(CP/Richard Lam)

Dropouts down. High schoolers are keeping their noses in the books more than ever. The nation's high school dropout rate fell by one-third, to 12 per cent in 1999 from 18 per cent in 1991. A Statistics Canada survey also found that about 70 per cent of students attend college or university after they graduate. And women continue to graduate at higher levels than men.

(CP/Jacques Boissinot)

A new look. The Alliance is trying yet another fresh face. Twenty-one months after electing Stockwell Day as leader, Alliance rank and file overwhelmingly rejected Day, who had been abandoned by 12 members of his parliamentary caucus, and replaced him with Stephen Harper, a 42-year old policy wonk who once worked for Reform Leader Preston Manning. Manning, who helped found both Reform and, in an attempt to expand its western base, the Alliance party in 1999, retired gracefully from politics earlier this year. Harper, a former Calgary Reform MP, ran a right-wing lobby group before entering the Alliance leadership race. For Prime Minister Jean Chrétien, Harper is the third leader of the opposition he has faced in less than two years. (CP/Aaron Harris)

Death of a genius. Mordecai Richler's acerbic pen was known the world over. The award-winning author of 10 novels, three children's books and a vast collection of essays, earned his greatest fame with The Apprenticeship of Duddy Kravitz. Although loved in English Canada, his attacks on Quebec nationalists brought him many enemies. Nevertheless, his poignant prose was respected everywhere. (CP/Dave Sidaway)

Farewell, Mr. Dressup. Whether it be making crafts, reaching into the Tickle Trunk for a new costume or chatting with his puppet sidekicks, Casey and his dog Finnegan, Ernie Coombs delighted thousands of children over the years as Mr. Dressup. Sadly, the 73-year-old, who was on air as Mr. Dressup for 29 years until 1996, died of a stroke.

Swinging in the snow. The white fluffy stuff was at a premium this winter, forcing Canadians to turn to some unconventional winter sports. The unseasonably warm winter temperatures followed record-breaking numbers in the summer, including a heat wave emergency in Toronto which led to some air-conditioned companies opening their doors to the city's homeless. In Nova Scotia, dryness triggered forest fires, while on the Prairies the summer sun's blistering rays and the dry winter further intensified already severe drought conditions. (CP/Dave Childley)

Still flying. And the success of Nelly Furtado's debut album, Whoa Nelly!, continues. The 23-year-old from Victoria, B.C., took home a Grammy for best female pop performance for her song "I'm Like a Bird," a year after winning four Juno awards. Her first effort has created a global buzz that few Canadian musicians have achieved in an entire career. (AP/Kevork Djiansejian)

Punk goes mainstream. Sum 41 has brought skateboard punk to the masses. Two of the foursome from in and around the Toronto area formed their band 41 days into the summer of 1996 after Grade 11, which led to the group's name. Although born and raised in Canada, the young punk-rockers have hit a serious chord south of the border. (MACLEAN'S/Craig Chivers)

Can't get much higher. Creed has taken Christian rock to a whole new level. After two highly successful albums the trio, who all live in Orlando, Fla., released their third full-length album, Weathered. The CD debuted at Number 1, selling more copies in its first week than any other rock release in 2001. (AP/Laura Rauch)

Be nice boys. Alberta-based rockers Nickelback have constantly had to defend their music. While accepting criticism from music critics, the band took exception when fellow Canadian rockers Matthew Good Band took a few serious swipes—including calling Nickelback carbon copies of bands like Creed—and decided to hit back. When the dust from the verbal scuffle settled, Nickelback could still look back on a year that included a hit record with Silver Side Up and a sold-out, 19-city European tour. (CP/Bernard Weil)

All that Glitters . . . turns to dust. And so it goes for Mariah Carey. After a series of Number 1 albums during the 1990s, the 32-year-old Carey's life spun out of control. After her album and film (both entitled Glitter) garnered more criticism than interest, the one-time diva had a nervous breakdown and spent two weeks in hospital. Her label, Virgin Records, later added insult to injury when they bought out her recent four-album US$100 million contract for US$28 million. (AP/Kevork Djiansejian)

Gone too soon. Twenty-two-year-old singer and actress Aaliyah Haughton—known to her fans by her first name only—died when the twin-engine plane she was travelling in crashed only seconds after taking off from the Bahamas. In July, Aaliyah had released her self-titled third album, which offered a slower, more introspective compilation of songs. (AP/Jim Cooper)

You ain't fallin' girl! Alicia Keys exploded onto the music scene with her debut album, Songs in A Minor, which earned her five Grammy awards including Best New Artist and Best R and B album. With a soulful sound and deft songwriting, especially on the album's first single, "Fallin'," the 21-year-old singer-pianist soared to the top of the charts. (AP/Reed Saxon)

Canada's sultry songstress.

With her soothing voice and piano skills, Diana Krall has introduced a whole new generation to jazz. The Grammy award-winning and platinum-selling artist will no doubt win more converts with her fifth album, The Look of Love, released last year. The 37-year-old native of Nanaimo, B.C., has had her music featured on Sex and the City and in several films including last year's The Score, starring Robert De Niro, Marlon Brando and Edward Norton.

(CP/Paul Chiasson)

Minnie Mouse no more. Britney Spears cemented herself as the world's Number 1 pop princess with a wildly popular new self-titled album and North American tour. The 20-year-old also made her on-screen debut starring in Crossroads, a film about a wannabe pop star who goes on the road with three friends in search of her dream of making it big. In real life, that dream has certainly come true for the one-time member of the Mickey Mouse Club. (AP/Mark J. Terrill)

Flower child re-emerges. For three years, Alanis Morissette has been relatively invisible, but with her new, self-produced album, Under Rug Swept, the 27-year-old Ottawa-born superstar is back. Her first single, "Hands Clean," topped Canadian radio charts after its release in February, 2002. (CP/Richard Lam)

No time. Gwen Stefani of No Doubt sure had a busy year. Stefani, 32, and her band released a new album, Rock Steady, worked on numerous side projects with other artists and even got engaged. By year's end she was showing off the diamond on her ring finger from fellow rocker and long-time boyfriend, Gavin Rossdale, 34, of Bush.

(AP/Chris Weeks)

U2 certainly not stuck in a moment. With a mega-selling, Grammy-winning album in All That You Can't Leave Behind, there is no doubt the Irish four-some still have what it takes. Even at middle age, U2 still puts on one of the best live acts in the business, and didn't disappoint audiences in any of their 113 stops on their recent worldwide Elevation Tour. While lead singer Bono, (far right), continues his struggle for economic equality on behalf of countries in the developing world, his band grossed US$143 million in concert revenue last year. (AP/Tony Gutierrez)

The world gently weeps. George Harrison never wanted all the attention that came with being a member of the world's most famous rock band. Known as the quiet Beatle, the band's lead guitarist wrote some of the most-loved Beatles' classics, including "Here Comes the Sun," "While my Guitar Gently Weeps" and "Something." He died at age 58, after a bout with lung and brain cancer. (AP/PA)

Message Mania. Surfing the net has taken a back seat to instant messaging, which combines the immediacy of the phone with the brevity of e-mail text. Just ask the world's 140 million users. In Canada, the Number 1 program is ICQ (which stands for I Seek You), followed closely by MSN Messenger. The messaging program is not just for chatty teens. Many companies use it instead of conventional e-mail programs. (CP/Ruth Bonneville)

Call me on my cell. That's a common command among youths who can't go anywhere without their portable phones. No longer just a status symbol, cells have become a way of life. Sleek and small designs offer a range of options. Now that you have the phone, you need a place to store the digits. Some are turning to personal organizers like the Palm which is one option—albeit pricey—for teens to keep phone numbers and track of their ever busy social calendar. (MACLEAN'S/Sarah Fraleigh)

Video fantasies. As Nintendo pushes GameCube, Sony peddles PlayStation 2 and Microsoft promotes the Xbox, video game lovers rejoice. The sale of hardware, software and gaming accessories is worth $600 million a year in Canada and has been expanding by eight to 15 per cent annually. One-third of Canadian households now have at least one gaming console. Worldwide, the market is valued at $25 billion.

Who wants digital? Time will certainly tell. But, so far 2.3 million Canadians are digital-channel capable compared with 10 million analogue customers on regular cable. There are currently 60 stations offering CD-quality sound and a sharper picture, at a premium price, of course. But hey, where else can you watch Toronto Raptor TV, MTV Canada or the Scream channel, which offers horror movies all day? (AP/Jeff Klein)

Internet thieves. As Napster struggled in the courts over piracy charges, new online music programs popped up elsewhere on the Web. Even better, they are available on tiny MP3 players. (AP/Joe Cavaretta)

Brand new eXperience. Bill Gates released his newest version of Windows, called Windows XP, which includes souped-up instant messaging and Microsoft's latest digital media player. For those who desire greater security, there's an Internet firewall and passport. Just like older versions of Windows, a few kinks need to be worked out. Regardless, the dollars keep pouring into the Gates multimedia empire. (AP/Marty Lederhandler)

Television

(AP/Kerok Danaszian)

(CP/Kevin Frayer)

(CP/Stef Behal)

(CP/Marc Gallant)

Voyeurs victorious. Our passion for reality TV, although declining, continues. Whether it be watching people try to outsmart each other at some exotic location on Survivor, peaking into living rooms, albeit fake, in Big Brother, testing couples' commitments on Temptation Island, figuring out who among the group of non-actors is the plant in The Mole, or watching people do some of the silliest acts of bravery imaginable on Fear Factor. All of the above have people, often desperately, trying to get their 15 minutes of fame. Even Canadian TV executives couldn't stay away. Our shows included Pioneer Quest, which sent two couples into the Manitoba wilderness, The Lofters, a scaled-down version of Big Brother with eight 20-somethings living in a Toronto loft, and Popstars: Boy Meets Girl, which just started its second season of making musical dream careers come true for struggling artists.

Nice bell-bottoms! That '70s Show, one of TV's most popular programs, delves into the trials and tribulations of growing up as a teen during the Seventies. The show has spawned a spin-off, That '80s Show, but audiences seem more interested in the earlier Disco version, muttonchops and all. For the uninitiated, that's Seventies talk for sideburns.

Matt Groening

D'oh, Canadian style. Homer and the gang made the long trek north in an episode when Bart falls for a girl who has to move to Canada where her mega-star dad is filming a movie. Jokes related to Canadian health care, the beaver and curling were paramount, due mainly to the fact that two Canadians help write the show. (The Simpson TM and ©2002 Twentieth Century Fox Film Corporation. All rights reserved.)

Still friends after all these years. Rachel's pregnant with Ross's kid. Joey loves Rachel. Monica and Chandler are still married. Phoebe still sings "Smelly Cat." And well, we're still watching Friends. In its ninth season, the insanely popular sitcom with 25 million North American viewers, looked to be coming to an end, but the cast, including Canadian Matt Perry, inked an historic $1.5 million an episode per actor contract. The pay raises make Friends the most expensive half-hour of TV to produce ever. (AP/Michael Caulfield)

Movies

Pure fantasy. The first book of J.R.R. Tolkien's epic trilogy, The Lord of the Rings: The Fellowship of the Ring, has hit the big screen with a big bang. It's the first of three fantasy features, shot simultaneously. The other two will be released at Christmas time in 2002 and 2003. The Tolkien saga, which was published in the 1950s, has a readership of more than 100 million. Clearly, a marketer's dream.

Knocking down the door. With tears streaming down her face, Halle Berry made history when she became the first black woman to capture an Oscar for best actress since the Academy Awards began 75 years ago. Berry, 35, won the Oscar for her portrayal in Monster's Ball of a tragedy-stricken mother whose estranged husband dies in the electric chair and whose son is killed in a hit-and-run accident.

(AP/Kevork Djiansejian)

Under Harry's spell. Young Harry Potter made his big-screen debut in Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone to an adoring audience. Kids of all ages headed out to see the flick based on the hugely popular series of books, written by J.K. Rowling. With more than $900 million in box-office receipts, the movie ranks second all-time behind Titanic. Parts two and three are due out in 2002 and 2004.

Love and war. Pearl Harbor had the perfect blockbuster formula. A young, pretty cast—Ben Affleck, Kate Beckinsale and Josh Hartnett, along with Cuba Gooding, Jr., (above)—an epic tale (the Japanese surprise attack in 1941) and a tragic love story of two friends, both pilots, who fall for the same woman. The critics hated it, but for the audience the flick's got a lot of action and a whole lot of love.

Animation sensation. A star-studded cast performed perfectly behind state-of-the-art computer animation in Shrek to create one of the year's biggest hits and winner of the first Oscar for full-length animated feature. Mike Myers played Shrek, the green giant who goes from mean to keen; Eddie Murphy plays a talking jackass—a role he's perfected; Cameron Diaz is a martial arts princess and John Lithgow is the villain. Shrek's quest to rescue the princess brings him into hilarious contact with a host of fairy tale characters.

Crowe's flying high. Once again the seemingly unstoppable Russell Crowe is creating a huge buzz. This time all the fuss is over his performance in Ron Howard's A Beautiful Mind, which won four Academy Awards, including Best Picture. Crowe plays John Nash Jr., an American math genius in the 1950s who struggles with schizophrenia before making a comeback, capped by winning a Nobel Prize in 1994 for his work in game theory. Co-star Jennifer Connolly, who plays his wife, won the Oscar for Best Supporting Actress.

The cars are pretty hot, too. The Fast and the Furious is an action-adventure that stars Vin Diesel, (left), as Domenic Toretto, the leader of a street gang under suspicion for stealing expensive electronic equipment. Paul Walker, (right), of Varsity Blues fame plays an undercover police officer who infiltrates the fast-paced Los Angeles race world, attempting to uncover the illegal activities.

Hidden East coast treasure. In The Shipping News, Kevin Spacey plays an ink setter from upstate New York who returns to his family's home in a small Newfoundland fishing outpost to escape a personal tragedy. But for many, the bright light in the sometimes dark film, based on the Pulitzer Prize-winning novel by E. Annie Proulx, is Newfoundland, itself, where the movie was shot. (CP/Ted Pritchard)

Smith dances like a butterfly. In Ali, Will Smith had the critics talking Oscar before the movie was even released. Smith put on 30 pounds of muscle and seriously toned up to play the part of the world's greatest boxer. Ten years of Ali's life are depicted in the film, including many of his personal struggles—divorces and draft-dodging Vietnam—before concluding with his title fight against George Foreman. Smith also did a great job staying true to Ali's famous motormouth. In the end, Smith lost the Oscar fight to Denzel Washington who starred as the bad cop in Training Day.

Slick flick. Danny Ocean is fresh from a stint in the big house when he rounds up a gang of associates to stage simultaneous heists of three major Las Vegas casinos in the re-make of Ocean's Eleven, a 1960s classic. The eccentric group of characters, which includes an aging thief, a Chinese acrobat, a perfect pickpocket and a card magician, all have key roles to play if the $150 million heist is going to work. The clothes are cool and some of the one-liners, especially from George Clooney, (left), who plays Ocean, and Brad Pitt, (right), are classic. Matt Damon, Julia Roberts and Andy Garcia round out an all-star cast.

Hollywood's new hunk. Hayden Christensen of Toronto got a huge break when he was selected by Star Wars director George Lucas to play Anakin Skywalker—the Jedi warrior who later becomes Darth Vader—for the coming new Star Wars features. Lucas is known for his ability to turn nobodies into major Hollywood stars (i.e. Harrison Ford). No doubt, the 21-year-old Christensen is only a couple of light saber battles away from superstardom. (MACLEAN'S/Teresa Barbieri)

Nearly, mission impossible. Josh Hartnett, (above), and Ewan McGregor portray two American soldiers in Black Hawk Down who take part in the ill-fated 1993 Somalia mission. The film, based on actual events, is another attempt to cash in on the increased American patriotism after 9/11.

Gold Rush. A slow start at the Olympics in Salt Lake City called into question the state of our sports programs, but in the final days a slew of medals quieted the critics. With 17 medals, the 2002 Games turned out to be our finest ever Winter Games performance. Canada's first gold came when speed skater Catriona Le May Doan, (top right), blew away the competition on the 500-m long track. Wayne's boys kept our gold-hungry nation on edge, floundering at the start, but in the end Team Canada didn't disappoint. After a 50-year Olympics drought, Canada roared to glory with a 5-2 win over the U.S., with 12 million people watching—the largest measured TV audience for a sporting event in Canadian history. It took five days for the International Olympic Committee and the Skating Union to figure out what any arm-chair skating judge could tell you—Canadian figure skating pair Jamie Salé and David Pelletier deserved the gold medal. The furor over Skategate made celebrities of the off-ice couple and has led to big time endorsement deals, including one for Crest Whitestrips, ensuring we aren't going to forget their million-dollar smiles anytime soon. Meanwhile, nobody thought the Canadian women's hockey team had a chance against the U.S., which was on home ice and had won all of the last eight meetings between the two. But not even the officiating of an American referee in the gold medal final could stop Canada from a 3-2 upset win. In another example of true grit, few will forget Beckie Scott's beaming smile, (centre), after winning the first ever North American Olympic medal in cross-country skiing—a bronze in the combined pursuit. All in all, a great show.

And the new Tiger is . . . William Augustus Tryon IV? Nicknamed Ty by his dad, after the Ty Webb character in Caddyshack, Tryon became the youngest player—17 years, six months and one day—to earn his PGA tour card. His best rookie performance since joining the tour was a 37th place showing at the 2001 B.C. Open, where he was remarkably the tournament's co-leader after 18 holes. No doubt Nike have the endorsement contracts simply awaiting Ty's signature. (AP/Matt York)

Nash's got plenty of game. Dallas Mavericks point guard Steve Nash made sports history as the first Canadian to play in an NBA All-Star Game. During the off-season, the 28-year-old, mop-topped superstar from Victoria, B.C., whose $8.6-million annual contract makes him the highest paid Canuck to ever play pro ball, keeps busy as captain of Canada's national basketball team.

Can't stay away. You've got to wonder if Michael Jordan is ever going to retire. The 39-year-old former Chicago Bull decided to lace up his Air-Jordan high-tops once again, this time for the Washington Wizards—a team that he part-owned during his last retirement from the game. Although not as quick as he once was, the six-foot-six-inch guard showed he can still play with the young guys, averaging 24.3 points a game until knee surgery sidelined him near the end of the season.

Lovin' Lacrosse. Canada's official sport has seen a 30 per cent explosion in registration in each of the past three years, which is far greater than any other organized sport. An estimated 200,000 Canadians now compete annually in amateur lacrosse. (MACLEAN'S/Peter Bregg)

Beware the underdog. After posting a losing record in the regular season, the Calgary Stampeders captured the Grey Cup with a surprising 27-19 win over the heavily-favoured Winnipeg Blue Bombers. In front of 65,255 at Montreal's Olympic Stadium, the second-largest crowd in Grey Cup history, the Stamps held off a second-half rally to win their second title in four years.

Dynamic duo. With serves that rival the power of the top men, Venus and Serena Williams dominated the women's game last year. After winning her second consecutive Wimbledon title in July, Venus, 21, the year's top money winner, went on to capture her second straight U.S. Open title by beating her 19-year-old sister Serena in the first Grand Slam final between siblings in 117 years. Moon-shot master. Barry Bonds isn't always Major League Baseball's most gracious player, but man can he hit the long-ball. Last year, the San Francisco Giants slugger hit 73 home runs—three in the pressure-packed last weekend of the season—to break Mark McGwire's single season mark of 71, set in 1998. The 37-year-old outfielder took over seventh place in the all-time homer list with 567, ahead of New York Yankee great Reggie Jackson. (AP/Julie Jacobson)

Sunken treasure. Colossal statues, sunken ships, gold coins and jewelry are some of the treasures uncovered by a team of marine archaeologists in the submerged ancient city of Heracleion, 6.5 km off Egypt's shoreline. The ancient city, thought to have been destroyed by an earthquake and flooding in the middle of the 8th century AD, was built in the 7th or 6th century BC and acted as Egypt's main port of trade. Where's mom's car? Searching for the car in a shopping mall parking lot isn't a lot of fun. So use Parking Caddy—a $20 key chain device that allows you to input the lot, level and row number of where you parked. There's also an alarm clock to warn drivers when a parking meter is about to run out.

Big Foot was here. Scientists in Alberta say that the discovery of tracks made by woolly mammoths, ancient camels, horses, bison and caribou are providing some of the best visual clues on how these animals were hunted by man on the Western plains more than 10,000 years ago. But it appears that shortly after humans arrived, the animals became extinct. As well, the evidence seems to indicate that man may have first come to the New World travelling by foot or boat along the west coast of the Americas before moving inland. This goes against the conventional theory that people came over a land bridge from Siberia. (MACLEAN'S/Brian Bergman)

Top down . . . wind in your hair. The Segway Human Transporter (HT) is a radical concept in personal transportation. Reaching speeds of 20 km per hour, the HT triples the speed of normal walking and can travel as many as 28 km on a single electrical charge. (AP/Suzanne Plunkett)

That bird . . . has propellers! In the future, whenever you're late for class, you can just jump aboard your Solotrek XEV and be there in no time at all. As you hover, one meter from the ground, you'll be able to weave in and out of traffic in this single-person flying device. During initial tests, the first flight lasted just 19 seconds, so it's clear there is still some work to be done. Even when it's ready, there will be one major obstacle—the price. It's expected to retail for about the same as a high-end sports car. It isn't too great for dating, either. (AP/Julie Jacobson)

Look ma! No...keyboard. Even two-finger typists can use this new product created by a Swedish high-tech company. Here's how it works: there are two sensors that fit snugly over each hand at the knuckles. They monitor each finger movement, allowing users to type on any flat surface as if it was a keyboard, relaying each keystroke to a hand-held computer or smart phone via radio waves.

How do you say. . . ? If you're having trouble conjugating verbs, the UT-103 Language Translator is just the thing for you. Able to translate English words into any of three languages (French, German, Spanish), the $395 device has about 3,000 phrases divided into 14 subject categories, including everyday conversation, health and sports. Homework has never been so easy.

Maclean's, Canada's Weekly Newsmagazine with more than three million readers every week, is a tremendous resource for students and their families. From national and international news, to science and technology, to health and education, business, entertainment and more, Maclean's covers what matters to Canadians quickly, reliably, intelligently, and with a Canadian perspective.

In addition to the magazine, Maclean's publishes the annual Guide to Canadian Universities and offers a comprehensive In-Class program for educators and their students. For more information about Maclean's, call 1-800-Macleans (1-800-622-5326) or visit us on the Internet at www.macleans.ca.
